The Education Award

The Education Award is open to all education buildings from nursery care up to higher education. The jury considers a wide range of factors including adaptability, robustness, environmental performance and the ability to inspire students and staff.

“We spend a lot of our time trying to make sure our buildings will stand the test of time, it’s wonderful to have someone appreciate that”

About the awards

We launched our awards as a direct riposte to the prevalent awards culture. Instead of focussing on what's new, what's fresh, what's perfect, what's pristine, we look at what has endured, what's flexible, what's adaptable, what works, what performs. Submitting an entry isn't about salesmanship or showmanship. It's about engaging with this discussion; revisiting projects with the benefit of hindsight and reflecting on lessons learnt.

The aim is not to hold an annual beauty parade, but to establish a canon; an archive of projects that represent best practice and have demonstrated their worth. And to demonstrate the long-term value of projects that stand the test of time. Crucially, these awards exist to make the long-term value of architecture visible: to show that flexibility, longevity, and performance are not secondary virtues, but the most meaningful measure of success.

Previous winners

Regent High School, Somers Town, London, by Walters & Cohen Architects

“Surrounded by 14 social housing estates, with 60% of pupils qualifying for free meals, this school’s transformation was a vital ‘frontline’ boost for its inner north London community. Over a decade since its completion, it offers nationally relevant lessons on what stands the test of time.”

Royal Academy of Music, London, by ritchie*studio

“An ingenious, complex retrofit of a listed building on a highly constricted site, this elegant, beautifully detailed solution has given the building a new lease of life that will keep this world-class music school at the top of its game for generations to come.”

Burntwood School, Wandsworth London, by Allford Hall Monaghan Morris

“A campus that once represented Modernism at its best has been reinvented for modern times – boldly, skilfully, and with a degree of ambition that has become a rarity in school buildings.”

Why enter?

- Demonstrate your ability to produce work that delivers long-term value over time.
- Showcase your expertise in this sector to a wide audience of judges, collaborators and clients
- Reconnect with clients and collaborators and reflect on lessons learned
- High-profile media exposure with all shortlisted projects announced on Architecture Today's website and social media channels
- All winning projects covered extensively on Architecture Today's website and in a special awards issue of *Architecture Today
- All winning projects are rephotographed by leading architectural photographer Timothy Soar
- Teams behind the winning projects record a presentation on their scheme, which is widely promoted through AT's media channels and forms part of an archive of best-in-field projects that have stood the test of time

“For me, the greatest reward an architect can receive is history itself — and these awards capture exactly that. They celebrate the enduring relationships we build with our clients long after a project is complete”

*Dav Bansal,
Howells*

Process

All entries are thoroughly reviewed by our Awards Panel, who typically select three finalists in each category. The teams behind the shortlisted projects are invited to present their project to our expert jury at the Live Finals, a day of live crits which will take place on 16th July at The Society Building in central London.

We work with the successful entrants to record their presentations for the AT archive of outstanding buildings that have stood the test of time, a free-to-access resource for academia, practice and clients.

The winning project in each category is rephotographed by Timothy Soar and published on AT's website and in a special awards issue of *Architecture Today.

“These awards have real integrity”

*Paul Monaghan,
Allford Hall Monaghan Morris*

Winners' Party

The winners will be announced at an awards party on Thursday 12th November at 76 Southbank, a Grade II listed building designed for IBM by Sir Denys Lasdun and completed in 1983, and recently refurbished and extended by Allford Hall Monaghan Morris for Wolfe Commercial Properties.

“This is a critically important award, particularly in the era we live in, where responsibility is increasingly central to architectural practice. This is not about designing something wonderful and then disappearing; it’s about standing by your decisions and a powerful way of reflecting on those responsibilities, and reminding ourselves what they really mean”

*Peter Bishop,
The Bartlett School of Architecture, UCL*

Entry criteria

The Test of Time Awards are designed to showcase, celebrate and share knowledge about buildings that have stood the test of time.

Projects will only be considered if they have been in use for at least three years and can demonstrate a strong track record for delivering on their environmental, functional, community and cultural ambitions.

Each category is open to new-build and retrofit projects. Projects can be of any scale or typology and in any part of the world, but must have been completed before April 1st 2023 to be eligible for entry.

You do not have to be a registered architect to submit a project. We actively encourage submissions from consultants, clients, charities, residents and community groups.

Group submissions are particularly welcome. Some of the strongest submissions and presentations have been made by a designer in tandem with a collaborator or client.

“I want to congratulate Architecture Today for doing what many of us have dreamed of happening for a long time. To reward buildings, not out of fashion the day they’ve finished, not because of the way they look, but how they actually work out in practice, and how they stand the test of time”
